

Spaces of Work, 1770-1830

A one-day interdisciplinary conference
Saturday, 28th April 2012

University of Warwick, Coventry, UK

This conference will showcase current research on the intersections between space, work, and workers, as for conversations across the boundaries of disciplines such as literary criticism, cultural history, and historical geography. Topics include: genteel work and the city/suburb; work in places/spaces of 'leisure'; work and domestic spaces; men's work in the home; household management; space and female accomplishment; work and emergent manufacturing/industrial spaces.

The Holly Tree } A Flower } Aquifolium
The Blackwell's Holly, only at Pine } A Berry }

Invited Speakers:

Karen Harvey

(University of Sheffield)

Jennie Batchelor

(University of Kent)

For further information & to register:

<http://www2.warwick.ac.uk/fac/arts/hrc/confs/sw/>